

December 15, 2009

Re: Cindy Bower

To whom it may concern:

My son, Alex Basso, is currently playing for the OHL Belleville Bulls.

He has spent countless hours on the ice with Cindy in connection with his preparation for what is widely thought to be the best junior hockey league in the world.

During this time, Cindy has consistently demonstrated the knowledge and professionalism required to successfully provide skating instruction to elite athletes. She is also able to balance the rigorous demands she places on her students with supportive encouragement.

I would highly recommend her to any athlete or parents of athletes who wish to receive the best that her profession has to offer.

Sincerely,

Nello Basso