

Bill Barber

April 7, 2011

Re: Cindy Bower

Dear Sir/Madam:

I had the pleasure of working with Cindy Bower during my tenure as head coach of the Philadelphia Flyers. Cindy has an in depth knowledge of skating and understands very well the different hockey positions and what their jobs are on the ice. She is very experienced with high-end hockey players. Her 30 years of teaching experience and her ability to evaluate and motivate each of my players was invaluable to me as a coach.

Cindy's skating program included very successful drills that helped our players to perform at top levels. Her ability to motivate and improve themselves added another dimension to our team's success on the ice.

Cindy comes from a well known hockey family which I believe has helped her understanding of the game, the pressures the players are under to perform at the highest level and her ability to handle the press.

All in all, Cindy is a very professional woman working in the male dominated world of hockey and does an excellent job. She would be a very refreshing change for any organization to have on their team.

Very truly yours

Bill Barber