To whom it may concern,

I/we have known Cindy for over 15 years as a teacher Coach for my son and a family friend. Cindy has taught my Son Reggie Traccitto great skating skills and which have helped him to play at a high level of hockey (OHL and University Hockey UPEI) and still going on. It was through her great devotion as a person on and off the ice that she taught many kids and pros and for this my son found it hard not to attend her skating classes. We always called Cindy the “Master Mechanic” on ice, she always corrected and reinforced the proper techniques of skating.

Many hockey athletes have been referred to attend Cindy’s camps and none, to my knowledge, have been disappointed.

PS: All the early morning skates and the hard work the kids used to put out for Cindy were all worth it and certainly missed. Now those kids of yesteryear drive on their own when they get back from their respective teams or schools and visit the “Master Mechanic on Ice.”

Yours Truly,

Reg Traccitto Snr.
